Jerry Lewis Telethon Also Pitches In for Katrina Relief

ORLANDO, FL Techni-Lux lighting of Orlando was called upon to light the Central Florida Jerry Lewis Labor Day telethon. This annual telethon, now in its 40th year, was also instrumental in raising funds for the Hurricane Katrina effort. Techni-Lux lighting provided SGM Giotto 400 Spot and Wash fixtures, a Regia control console and Palco LED fixtures for the studio.

Additional support gear was also provided by PRG Orlando. Ted May was lighting director for the project and commented, "The SGM Giottos were truly amazing in output and performance. I have never worked with a moving light that had the efficiency of these lights. They looked great with 50KW of studio light behind them and we never heard them." "It's so nice that we can do something as an industry to help out right now", states Tony Hansen, Techni-Lux resident light designer. "The production company called us asking for help and we had the resources. We were also able to give the Palco LED fixtures a challenge and they performed beautifully."
